THE VANISHING POINT: MATH & ART

This workshop shows you how to teach perspective drawing using a few simple skills while making math class more relevant. Leave ready to turn your classroom into an architecture studio. For teachers with limited drawing experience.

SOCIAL, EMOTIONAL LEARNING WITH ART

Help your students feel seen, build empathy, and find words for big emotions, all through the power of art.

WRITE TO IGNITE: THE BLANK PAGE

"I don't know what to write" stops here. Leave with a slide deck, ready-to-use handouts, and art-based strategies that give reluctant writers in grades 5–9 a visual starting point — every time.

THE EDUCATOR'S RESET: ART, REFLECTION & RENEWAL

A 90-minute creative reset — just for you. Not your students, not your to-do list. Limited to 6 educators, this intimate session uses art as a tool for reflection, fresh perspective, and renewal—no art background needed.

DECODE IMAGES: DECODE IDEAS

Students see thousands of images a day, but do they know how to "read" them? From social media ads to fine art, there is a hidden language in the colours, fonts, and compositions they consume. This session gives you the tools to move students from passive scrolling to active, critical thinking.
